

VSL Call Script: Freeman's Way

From Freeman's own role-play (29 Sep). Only PIFs. Move forward, minimal back and forth. You're their best friend through the process. Freeman should never have to educate someone on his call.

Before you dial

- Read all 10 answers: funds · timeline · blocker · dream · work.
- Freeman's calendar open, 2 slots in mind.
- Which video did they come from (rent-to-rent or management)? Talk about that one.
- Stand up. Energy up, and keep it up to the last line.

1. Open

"Hey, is that [Name]? ... Hey, it's Tye from Freeman's team, how you doing?"

"I believe you filled out an application to work with Freeman, him supporting you on your Airbnb journey. I think you filled it out [yesterday evening]. Ring a bell?"

2. Frame it

"Amazing. I've just got five minutes. I just want to make sure this might be a good fit for you, explain a bit about how we might be able to support you, and what the next steps could look like."

3. The video + the model

"Thank you so much for filling out the application, I've got a lot of info about you here. There was a video on the page. Did you manage to give it a watch? Got a basic understanding of the business model?"

"So you're familiar with rent-to-rent, where we take a property from a landlord and let it out night by night on Airbnb?"

Never say "VSL". Management lead: "...where you manage Airbnbs for owners, no lease, no rent, no furniture."

4. How long + the hold-up

"How long have you been looking to get started in property?"

"Just out of curiosity, what's been the hold-up? [A year]'s a long time."

5. Situation + pain (go deeper)

"What do you do for work, if you don't mind me asking?"

"Is that something you enjoy? See yourself doing it for the foreseeable, or looking for a change?"

"What would be the biggest change for you? Buying back your time, the money, or something else?"

6. Location

"And whereabouts are you based?"

Rapport ("we've helped someone near there") + Scotland doesn't work for rent-to-rent.

7. Who's involved

"With this business, is it just yourself, or have you got a life partner or business partner helping you out?"

"How serious is that conversation? With or without them, are you looking to go all in, or is it something you want to do together?"

8. Money (use the application)

"I can see from the form you put [just under £5k] to get started. What sort of investment have you set aside comfortably, ballpark?"

"Short? You're slightly on the tighter side for rent-to-rent, if I'm honest. Got the luxury of any credit cards? Some costs can go on credit so you keep cash for rent and deposit."

"Confirm: So shall we call it [£4k cash and £2k credit]? Is that a safe amount you're happy to invest?"

Don't

Mention payment plans. That's Freeman's card to play on his call.

9. Why this time

"Out of curiosity, you've been looking at this for [a year], webinars, YouTube. Why is this time different? What are you looking for?"

10. Book provisionally

"I think you'd be a great fit for the programme. You've got a lot of what it takes to run this business, and I'm sure Freeman's going to take a real liking to you. I've got his calendar in front of me, and he's got some availability this week. Does [the weekend] work?"

"You said you work [nights]. Before work, or a few hours after you wake up?"

→ Pencil the slot in Freeman's calendar (remove it if it falls through).

11. The partner

"Are they aware of the application? Got their number? I'll make a quick WhatsApp group with the three of us so they can ask questions and we can confirm [11am Saturday]."

12. Position the call

"I've provisionally blocked that in. The call with Freeman isn't a consultation or a chit-chat. It's the next step. So I want you to have all the info to make a decision."

13. The video + "one rule"

"I've got a free exclusive training video on how to start your Airbnb, get it profitable, and how Freeman can help. Would that help you make the decision?"

"I've just got one rule: before your call with Freeman, you watch it. It's about 25 minutes. When can you watch it?"

"Shall I give you a buzz [tomorrow at 3]? I'll ask a few questions to make sure it makes sense. You might say "this isn't for me", or "I love it, I'm excited for Saturday". Either's fine."

Check-in outside work hours (not their lunch break).

14. Tease the proof

"Freeman's worked with a few other [shift workers] who've had amazing results. After the video I'll send you some of their stories."

The check-in call

"How'd you find the video? What did you like about the business model? About Freeman? Why do you think he's a good fit? So how excited are you for Saturday?"

"Here's [client] who reminds me of you: same position this time last year, a job they didn't like, long hours. They made the change. I want that to be you."

Partner on the call? Check: "Even without them, is this something you'd do?" and "When you start seeing results, what do you think they'll say?"

Freeman's fixes from your first run

Don't	Do
Say "VSL"	"the video on the page"
Skip checking they watched	Confirm video + basic understanding every call
Slow to get to money	"I can see from the form you put X..."
Offer payment plans	Never. Freeman's card
Full sentences, robotic	Short, casual, react to them
Energy fades	Keep it up to the end
Check in on their lunch	After work / free time
No dates	Provisional slot on the first call
Forget location	Always ask (Scotland!)
Same style for all	Basic and warm with an auntie, "bro" with a young guy

After the call

- 1 Pencil Freeman's calendar
- 2 WhatsApp group with the partner + send the video
- 3 Close task: check-in at the agreed time
- 4 Close note → /log
- 5 Airtable row
